GOVERNOR TALKS People of Honolulu Turn Out En Masse

The boys are back!
Last Saturday morning, the Calawall steamed slowly into Honolulu harbor with the victorious Fighting Deans and a number of large packing cases on her forward deck which were at first supposed to contain tiger skins, but, which were later disclosed to contain nothing more than commonplace merchandise.

CROWD IMPATIENT
To the impatient crowd on Pier 8, it seemed like hours before the Young Brothers' tug Mahoe came puffing into the harbor, with the University band in her bow, tooting away under the leadership of Bandmaster Ralph G. Cloward, a signal that the boat was in sight.

DEANS GET OVATION
Soon the big white ship poked her head around the point and was greeted by the cheers of the assembled multitude. Slowly she nosed into the wharf, with a decided list to port which was no doubt caused by the rush of passengers to that side and, with the rail lined with Deans, tied up, to the strains of "Aloha Oe" from the Hawaiian band, and the cheers from the Hawaii backers present, at least all of them who could possibly squeeze onto the big wharf.

TREATED "ROUGHLY"
The gang plank was lowered—the Rainbow Warriors came ashore. As each smiling lad landed, his life was threatened by the mobs of friends, parents, and sweethearts who gave him a rougher time in the few minutes he was on the pier than he had during the whole game with Oxy. Hand shaking, back slapping and forms of greeting indulged in by the fairer sex which will not be here described were exercised to a great extent—ask "Mac," "Rusty," "Red," "Sonny," or, for that matter, any of the team.

"PROC" SMILES
Proc, with the old smile working to perfection came into his share of the greeting and was smothered with leis as he made his appearance on the dock. Bill Moragne, football manager and head nurse to 20 football players, through whose efforts the team was made comfortable on the trip, received similar treatment.
After the first effusions were over and the tumult had somewhat subsided (Continued on page 3)

Engagement of Miss Young Told

Two parties were given on Friday evening to announce the engagement of Miss Clara Young to Y. T. Lum. Miss Young was present at the party given by Mr. and Mrs. Yip Kee Lum, parents of Y. T. Lum, for the couple and their friends. Mr. and Mrs. Sam Young entertained their relatives at their home to celebrate their daughter's engagement. Miss Young is an only daughter.

Miss Young is taking a course in vocational education at this University (of Hawaii). She is a member of the Chinese Students' Alliance and the Yang Chung Hui.

Y. T. Lum, who graduated from the University last year, is now assistant manager of the Liberty Bank. Lum is a brother of C. T. Lum, who had charge of the posters advertising Ice Bound.

Aloha to Leebrick

Leaves Tomorrow

Dr. K. C. Leebrick, head of the department of history and political science at the University, will leave tomorrow on the Sierra to take the position of professor of international relations at Syracuse University, Syracuse, New York. His family accompany him to the coast, and will remain in California during the winter, while Dr. Leebrick will go on to attend the American Political Science meeting to be held in the East shortly after Christmas.

After attending this conference, Dr. Leebrick will leave immediately for Syracuse, arriving there on January 3. He expects to stay at Syracuse during the next semester, although his leave from the University of Hawaii permits him to remain there two semesters longer if he so desires.

Cosmopolitan Club Votes To Admit Women Members

Dean Lewis Expresses Women's Idea of Club

Women students were admitted as an auxiliary unit into the Pan-Pacific Cosmopolitan Club of the University of Hawaii at its meeting held at the Pan-Pacific Research Institute last Wednesday night.

MANY NEW MEMBERS
More than forty new members attended the supper and business meeting that evening given by Alexander Hume Ford, adviser of the club, who acted as host and toastmaster.

This Women's Auxiliary will elect its own officers and call its own meetings whenever necessary. Once a month, joint meetings of the two branches will be held wherein the entire Cosmopolitan Club may assemble as a group to decide and talk over important issues.

SIMILAR PROGRAM
The auxiliary will carry on work along the same line as that of the Cosmopolitan Club. It will, however, have more to do on the feminine side of things. It is exactly like the Cosmopolitan Club except that its members are women students while the membership of the original organization is made up of men students.

DEAN LEWIS SPEAKS
Mrs. Dora M. Lewis, probable adviser of the Women's Auxiliary said, "For a time I was afraid that women would be barred from the Cosmopolitan Club but now it certainly is a relief to think that we are voted (Continued on page 3)

Notice

The time schedule for the cross-country run has been changed from 1 o'clock in the afternoon to 4 o'clock, Friday, Dec. 16.

The course is as follows: start from Cooke Field, east around University St., up to Maile, thence to Oahu St., follow carline to hairpin turn to upper Manoa Road, to junction of Kanehameha Ave., follow car line to Oahu Avenue, turn to Maile St. and back to starting point.

Professor Baker Presented With Hawaii Union Key

Criminal Procedure Is Subject Discussed At Meeting

In recognition and appreciation of the work of Professor J. M. Baker as coach of the University of Hawaii debating teams, Walter Mihata, in behalf of the six varsity debaters, presented him with a Hawaii Union key, at the meeting of the Union held last Thursday evening at the home of Dr. A. L. Andrews.

Prof. Baker in accepting the key made a short speech. He said that he enjoyed his work as coach of the teams and commended the debaters for their progress and showing in spite of many handicaps. Expressing his gratitude, he concluded by saying that he will wear the key in preference to other emblems and jewelry.

LIBRARIAN APPOINTED
The president of the Hawaii Union, Walter Mihata, was authorized to appoint a librarian to keep the records of the activities of the Union. In as much as Q. L. Ching was the originator of this idea, he was appointed librarian.

A lengthy report on the proposed inter-island high school debate was accepted and laid on the table. The report of the inter-class debates showed signs of progress. After the business meeting, the evening was turned over to the discussion of the question, "Resolved, that criminal procedure in the United States should be amended to prevent such delays in justice as happened in the Sacco-Vanzetti case."

SMITH SPEAKS
Dr. Andrews presided during the informal discussion. All those present made a brief talk on the question. Arthur G. Smith, president of the Honolulu Bar Association and an honorary member of the Union, concluded the evening by giving his ideas on this technical proposition. Delays, as much as possible, should be eliminated because eye-witnesses in criminal cases usually cannot testify accurately over a long period of time.

Some delays are unavoidable. In transferring a case from one court to another, some time is consumed in preparing the transcript. Again, the examination of witnesses takes considerable time because what they actually saw must be nicely distinguished from what they believe, think, or imagine they saw. In order that an innocent man may not be convicted, witnesses must be carefully examined.

ELIMINATION OF DELAYS
To eliminate some delays, Mr. Smith suggested that flimsy appeals should not be granted and also that the grand jury should meet oftener to indict a person. In some states, the grand jury meets but twice a year, thereby delaying trials.

Hawaii, Mr. Smith said, is better off than many states in the matter of administering justice. New York has a total of about 16,000 cases on the calendar while he expects our calendar to be clear by March of next year.

Kinnear Is Proud Owner of New Home

"3041 Oahu Ave. has the prettiest house in Honolulu," says Gerald R. Kinnear, the new owner of the house. The house is the bungalow type, consisting of five rooms, a bath, and a screened lanai. The front of the house presents an especially pleasing appearance; four lovely pillars backed by French doors give this effect.

The lanai leads into an extremely spacious living room, 15 by 26 ft. in dimensions. To the right of the living room and also in the front is the dining room, its dimensions 14 by 15 ft.

In the rear of the house are two large bedrooms, separated by a bath and shower. Both bedrooms have large closets.

Immediately in the rear of the dining room is the kitchen, with a small porch connecting. This porch is used for the ice-box, etc.

The driveway is to the right of the house leading to a garage.

The heavy rains in the valley have washed several inches of the new lot away and Mr. Kinnear feels his property has decreased in value in the few days that he has been the owner.

PLAYERS DO GOOD ACTING IN ICEBOUND

SHOW MAKES HIT Creditable Work Due To Miss Cadwell As Coach

Complete and unqualified success marked the presentation on last Friday and Saturday nights of the University's first big play of the year, "Icebound," which was given at Bishop Hall, Punahou. The acting of members of the cast would have done credit to a troupe of professionals, and so well had the play been coached that the "first night," dreaded by all producers, was unmarred by any flaw.

PERFORMANCE PRAISED
Those who attended the opening performance on Friday evening had nothing but praise for those who produced "Icebound," and many critics declared the play to be one of the best amateur productions staged locally for many years.

THE STORY
"Icebound" was written by Owen Davis, and is essentially a character play. It tells of a family of Maine farmers which has grown little and hard with their struggle to wrest a living from the hard earth. The scene opens with the family gathered at the Jordan home, waiting for their mother to die, protesting great affection and grief, yet continually fighting over who should have the lion's share in the will. All the children are present save the family "black sheep," Ben Jordan, who comes unwelcome at the last moment. In her will, Mrs. Jordan leaves her entire estate to a distant relative, Jane Crosby, who has been her constant companion, and who is therefore decidedly unpopular with the rest of the family. A letter is left with the will, disclosing that the mother really wanted the estate to go to Ben, but knowing that he would only squander it, and further that Jane loved Ben and was the only one who could find the real man that was in him, she had left the property to Jane Crosby, with only a hundred dollars apiece for the other heirs.

MISS NEELY GOOD

Good Showing Made By Chorus

Making its first public appearance of this school term, the University chorus made a decided hit at the two performances of "Icebound" on Friday and Saturday nights of last week under the able direction of Professor Paul Kirkpatrick.

Miss Annie Akaka, freshman at the University, sang the solo of "Babbette of Beaujolais," taken from a light opera by Victor Herbert. The other song was "Morning" by Oley Speaks.

On Friday evening, the songs were sung between the first and second acts, while on Saturday the chorus sang between the second and third acts.

Although the chorus this year does not have as many voices as last year, the members who are now entered are working hard and attending the practices which are held every Wednesday evening in room 108, Hawaii Hall. Section practices for the different parts are held during the week as follows: Monday for the bass; Tuesday for the alto voices; Wednesday for the tenors and on Thursday the sopranos meet. These section practices are held from 1-1:30 in room 108. Mrs. Kirkpatrick accompanies on the piano.

Professor Kirkpatrick says that it is not yet too late for those wishing to enter the chorus and he has asked for more voices, especially for more women's voices.

The chorus may sing for the meeting of the National Educational Association which convenes in Honolulu during December.

Lydgate Leaves For Student Meeting

Alexander Hume Ford's dream of a Pan-Pacific students' conference to convene here in 1928 may be realized if Percy E. Lydgate, president of the Pan-Pacific students' club of the University of Hawaii, succeeds in his mission to obtain the approval of the National Students' Federation which will hold its meeting in Lincoln, Nebraska, December 19.

Lydgate sailed on the City of Honolulu Saturday afternoon to the convention as delegate of the Pan-Pacific Club here. With only twelve hours' notice, he prepared to leave for one of the most important student conferences ever held, carrying with him more than 200 leis to be presented to the student delegates in behalf of the Pan-Pacific Union.

Official letters from the Pan-Pacific Union, the Pan-Pacific Cosmopolitan Club, and Governor Wallace R. Farrington inviting the students to hold their next conference here were given to Lydgate before he sailed.

If Lydgate succeeds in winning the delegates to his side, the greatest aim of the Pan-Pacific Union, that of staging a model Pan-Pacific League of Nations Assembly in Hawaii, will be secured.

Chinese 'U' Women To Be Hostesses At Adelphai Party

Program to Include a Review of Chinese Family Life

Tentative plans for a typical Chinese entertainment were drawn up last Tuesday by the University Chinese women students who will be hostesses at the Adelphai Party on Jan. 14. This date was especially decided upon because it comes a week before Chinese New Year, the greatest celebration of China, and consequently Chinese delicacies may easily be secured.

Miss Margaret S. Wong was elected general chairman of the social program. Heads of the various committees were appointed as follows: Miss Wai Sue Chun, program; Miss Rose Louis, publicity; Miss Alice Ako, refreshments; and Miss Edith Ling, reception.

MOST UNIQUE FEATURE
The most unique feature on the program will be a review of the life of a typical Chinese family. It will present the characteristics and customs of Chinese life from childhood to old age. Matchmaking, the most interesting and probably the oldest of all the customs, will be explained and acted out by various members of the "family" which is, in reality, a group of University Chinese women.

WILL PRESENT MOON DANCE
Miss Gladys Li, talented dancer and singer, will give a costume dance revue and also an interpretation of the moon dance. Miss Ruth Chinn will render musical selections on the (Continued on page 3)

Bice's Invention Will Save Money For Poultrymen

A machine for holding eggs before incubation, which will save hundreds of dollars, has been recently invented by Charles M. Bice of the department of poultry husbandry. He had been at work for several weeks studying the various natural phenomena and the peculiar conditions of Manoa Valley, and finally perfected a machine that will keep eggs in good physical condition from 10 to 14 days before hatching.

REGULATION OF HEAT
It has been discovered that the embryo of the egg will begin to grow at the temperature of 68 degrees Fahrenheit. Therefore it is necessary to keep the eggs under 68 degrees. To accomplish the above condition, the machine has a funnel constructed at the center of the top to draw the wind into the machine. There is a damper at the entrance of the machine to regulate the incoming air. The air passes over a layer of ice which is placed in the upper part of the machine directly under the (Continued on Page 4)

Planned

BONDS FLOATED Sports Building Is Result of Ka Leo Petition

The 1927 Territorial legislature designated that $260,000 from the sale of Territorial bonds was to be used for the University of Hawaii buildings. The amounts authorized were—$150,000 for a biological science building; $50,000 for a gymnasium; and $60,000 for engineering buildings.

A portion of the total bond issue authorized has been sold and very probably allotments from this sale covering all the University construction will be made by Governor Farrington.

TEST PITS DUG
In order to furnish the architect with the necessary data so that plans for adequate foundations may be made, test pits, at the site of the proposed building, must be dug.

The holes now being excavated in the section of campus between Gattley Hall and Hawaii Hall are for this purpose. The architect is working with the geology, zoology and botany departments and tentative floor plans are now almost complete.

STUDENTS' PETITION
The gymnasium is the result of a petition signed by 600 university students and presented to the legislature through Senator Rice. The petition was drawn up and circulated by Shunzo Sakamaki, editor of Ka Leo last year. The editorial columns of Ka Leo were also used to urge favorable action by the legislature. The other two buildings were urged (Continued on Page 2)

Smith, Nishimura, K. Chong, Selected To Go To Asilomar

Sixth Delegation to Represent Hawaii At Conference

Earl Nishimura, Percy Smith, and Kim Fon Chong were the three students chosen by the University Student Y. cabinet to represent University of Hawaii in the annual Asilomar Conference in California from December 26 to Jan. 2.

This delegation is the sixth one to represent Hawaii. It will sail December 17 on the S.S. City of Los Angeles and return on January 4 on board a Matson freighter. The three boys will pay their own way to the conference with some aid coming from interested friends. A representative from the Territorial Normal school, Thomas Furukawa, will go with these boys. High school delegates to the Mt. Hermon Conference to be held on about the same time as the Asilomar Conference will also leave on the City of Los Angeles.

The Asilomar Conference is held yearly with representations from colleges extending from the Rockies to Hawaii—Arizona, California, Hawaii, Nevada, New Mexico, and Utah. The delegates dwell in tent houses amidst pines by the ocean at Asilomar on Monterey Bay. Board and lodging amounts to slightly over two dollars a day. This year about 500 persons will attend.

The conference curriculum includes:

Discussion of campus problems; exchange of committee methods; bible study; variety of invigorating recreation; college men's Christian citizenship program; time for quiet reflection; intercollegiate and international friendship; natural, personal and corporate worship; sympathetic vocational counsel; generous undergraduate participation; and messages from today's prophets.

Aloha to Leebrick

K. C. Leebrick, professor of history and political science, will leave leave for the mainland tomorrow to fill the position at Syracuse University left vacant by the advancement of Duncan Hall to Deputy Chief of the social division of the League Secretariat.

Dr. Leebrick will leave behind in Hawaii a host of friends and well-wishers—students, graduates, and faculty of the University and others. While wishing Dr. Leebrick bon voyage, Ka Leo also looks forward to Dr. Leebrick's speedy return to resume his professorship here.

Contact With the Faculty

Although a small university may have its disadvantages, there are some compensating advantages. In a small university there is a more intimate contact not only among the undergraduates but also between students and faculty than is found in a large institution.

Albert Lemes, former football player at the University and now a student at the University of California dental school, in a letter to one of the professors, remarked that there is hardly any personal contact between the students and faculty members. The University of Hawaii, in his opinion, is unique in that it offers greater opportunity for the undergraduates to know their instructors and professors.

College life, after all, is not only a period of training and preparation for some specialized life activity. Besides learning highly technical professions we must participate in the group life of the college, discharge our due obligations whether those of attending meetings or electing officers, and get to know the people around us, in order that we may be better fitted to live in the present.

Contact with the faculty, then, is an important phase of college education. Here in the University, students are fortunate in having faculty members who are easy to approach and who are willing to listen and talk over problems.

"Noblesse Oblige"

Lately a peculiar epidemic has broken out on the campus and is attracting the attention of those who look after the well-being (mental, physical and moral) of the individuals pursuing higher education in the University. It is said that this disease is not confined to the local campus alone, but that at some time or other has made its appearance in various institutions of learning throughout the mainland of America. It is considered one of the most difficult of maladies to diagnose. In fact, scientists have not yet been able to determine the true nature of the ailment, and for this reason, it is not known by any technical name such as Habeas Corpus, Lusus Naturae, etc.

One of the symptoms of this disease and perhaps the most outstanding, is the mania on the part of the afflicted person to mark up any and everything in sight with strange and mysterious hieroglyphics. That a large number of our students are ill with this unknown form of disorder may be inferred from the manner in which notices on the bulletin board are mussed up. Often the ravages of the disease are found on chairs and desks in the classroom. Sometimes these markings are intelligible and on certain occasions we have made them out to be resemblances of the human heart pierced by two arrows. In other instances they looked like the signatures of Barney Google, Andy Gump and a few other of our contemporaries.

In all seriousness, we believe that the practice now prevalent on the part of at least some students of defacing notices and announcements, is something unbecoming of so matured individuals as college people. It does not add one whit to the appearance of the bulletin board and certainly gives the visitor an erroneous if not a bad impression of the University. While we are willing to concede that in a sense, such a practice may be classified as humor, it is a kind of humor which usually leaves a bad taste in the mouth. Ka Leo invites the cooperation of all students in stamping out this deplorable habit. We would remind the culprits that as university men and women, a certain standard or norm of conduct is expected, and marking up notices is not a part of it.

Incidentally, we believe that some sort of uniform paper card or sheet should be used in which to write down notices, and that these must bear the approval of the A.S.U.H. before they are allowed to adorn the announcement board. At present all sorts of material are used, and as a result, that part of the wall next to the student's mailbox may be likened to our talisman, the rainbow. Any one of our pretty co-eds, in her anxiety to recover a pet lipstick or a miniature gold football, hastily scribbles a note and posts it on the "board" without any regard to a sense of proportion or appearance. While we are wholly in sympathy with the lady, we feel that she can obtain better results if she is able to "advertise" in some standard type of paper card. We would add, however, that the fault does not lie with her and that the remedy should be forthcoming through executive action of the A.S.U.H.

"Say, George, do I take the train from here to Milpitas?"
"No, Goofy, the engine does that. You just get on."

Question: If you were out of the sun and I was in it, what would the sun be?
Answer: Sin.

Doctor Fischer Gives Lecture

Speaks on Topic Pertaining to Biology; Many Listen

Dr. Martin Fischer of the University of Cincinnati, addressed a large audience of Pre-Medical and Science students "In Relation to Biology." After a brief introduction by Dean Keller, the speaker proceeded to tell the students the importance attached to their position in a university.

TWO EDUCATION THEORIES

He did this by pointing out two theories of education. The first is that of the primary school where there is the development of the weak character, and the second is in the university where the strong character is brought out. This latter theory, however, belongs only to a very small fraction of those who are attending the higher school of learning.

The best and largest problems fall to the university man, and he must find the happy medium regarding religion, art, science, poetry, and philosophy. Dr. Fischer expressed his pleasure in being in Hawaii where education is as it should be regardless of race, creed, or color.

LECTURE INTERESTING

The entire lecture was unusually interesting, and was made even more so by a number of illustrations. This one was used in showing the number of dependents in the United States: "If you travel in England and see a very beautiful structure and ask what it is, you will be told that it is a great cathedral, erected to God. If you travel in France and ask about some beautiful building, you will be told that is a chateau, raised to the glory of some noble family. Then you come to the United States and find a group of attractive buildings which, you are told, is an insane asylum."

THE UNFIT

The three per cent of the population who are chronically unfit, are cared for by the other 97 per cent at public expense. Even the politician is interested from the standpoint of a taxpayer. This number is steadily on the increase, especially since the last war. But then to look at the sunny side of the question, there is the group who give more than they take out. This group includes artists, musicians, poets, thinkers, and many others.

Each new generation should be better than the last from a biological standpoint. Dr. Fischer gave two ways of meeting this problem. A comparison must be made of superior and inferior persons which would amount to a tally of the characteristics concerning various features.

THE LAW OF LIKENESS

Mendel, an Austrian Monk, experimented with garden peas. He discovered that an individual inherits certain unit characters not fractional ones. If good stock is on both sides, the result will be in accordance. If different strains combine the result is hybrid. This is called the law of likeness, more technically called the mathematical law of probability of inheritance, that like produces like; it includes family resemblances. The result is a sense of stability which means one can depend on it.

Then the law of variation was pointed out. Its result tends toward progress. A number of charts were used to illustrate this fact. In breeding cattle some are raised for meat, others for milk; some horses are raised for racing, others for plowing.

If acquired characters could be inherited, race improvement would be very rapid. Science seems to prove the contrary, since to acquire means "to get by your own effort." The same laws hold for the psychological characteristics. The quantitative difference determines the great man from the weak-minded man.

GIVES THEORIES

Dr. Fischer also gave the students the theories of Lamarck, Weismann, Darwin, and Redfield. His idea in talking to the students was to show them the likelihood of a combination of the Mendelian and Lamarckian doctrines with reference to heredity.

Dr. Fischer has been "raised by the best biologists in the country," to use his own words, but had digressed far from their teachings. He is an eminent psychologist and chemist. He has studied with the great Wilhelm Ostwald in Germany, and was recently called to the Scandinavian countries to lecture on colloid chemistry. He is now returning from a lecture tour in the Universities of Japan. He will take up the work with his physiology classes in the Medical College at the University of Cincinnati in January.

U. H. ORCHESTRA

The orchestra is gradually getting under way. It now has 14 members and actual practice will begin as quickly as the music arrives from the mainland. Under Ben Dorfman's experience as a musician the orchestra should promise results.

Players Make Good Showing in Semester Play

audience. Ben Jordan was played by Phillip Peck, who portrayed the wayward and willful "Black sheep" in a forceful and realistic manner. His part was not an easy one, and was capable of being spoiled by overacting or by the introduction of mawkish sentimentality, and it speaks well both for Mr. Peck and for the directing of Miss Morilyn Cadwell that all this was carefully avoided.

MISS CADWELL COACH

To Miss Cadwell, who coached the play, belongs a large amount of the credit for its success, for as one critic of "Icebound" said, "she made actors out of amateurs." All characters were remarkably true to life, and perfect in even the small details. There was no overacting in the entire play, and the stage "business" was handled with the skill of a veteran director.

MISS DENNISON ALTERNATES

Miss Alice Dennison alternated with Miss Neely on Saturday evening, giving to the part of Jane Crosby a slightly different interpretation, but one entirely in harmony with the part. The rest of the cast remained the same in both performances and included John Devereux as Henry Jordan; Miss Christine Doty as Emma, his wife; Miss Alice Bevins as Nettie a daughter by a former marriage; Miss Isabel Hockley as Sadie Fellows, once Sadie Jordan; Miss Ruth Robbins as Orin, her son; Miss Juanita Lemmon, as the unmarried sister, Ella Jordan; Phillip Peck as Ben Jordan; Ventnor Williams as Judge Bradford; Miss Alla Neely and Miss Alice Dennison as Jane Crosby; Miss Grete Gluud as Hannah, a servant; Keith Wallace as Jim Jay; and Helmuth Hoermann as Dr. Curtis.

BUSINESS STAFF

The production staff consisted of Tommy Ellis, manager of the play; Joseph Swezey, stage manager; George Perry, Fred Lambert, Fred Steere as assistant stage managers; Elmer Harpham, electrician; Alfred O. Giles, publicity; Miss Regina Christoferson, properties; Miss Helene Bartels, and Miss Margaret Lemmon, assistants; Chad Penhallow, ticket manager; Horace Johnson, house manager; Miss Sylvia Dean and Miss Leonie Schwallie, in charge of make-ups.

"U" CHORUS FURNISH MUSIC

Music was furnished between the first and second acts by the University of Hawaii chorus, directed by Prof. Paul Kirkpatrick, with Mrs. Kirkpatrick at the piano.

The attendance at both performances of the play was highly gratifying. Bishop Hall being filled almost to capacity both evenings. The audiences were responsive, and accorded the University of Hawaii actors high tribute.

Structures To Be Ready Soon

by Governor W. R. Farrington in his biennial message to the legislature.

GYM PLANS READY

The plans for the gymnasium prepared by Rothwell, Kangeter and Lester are practically complete. Only a few minor adjustments remain to be made.

After final approval by the authorities it is expected that allotment of funds will be made so that bids from contractors may be received. Construction will probably begin about January 20th.

YOUNG LOWEST BIDDER

Governor Farrington allotted the money for the engineering units on November 25th. Bids from contractors were opened on November 30th, and the contract amounting to $49,875 was awarded to J. L. Young, of the Engineering company, who submitted the lowest bid. Construction will begin within ten days and the buildings should be completed by April 30th.

"H" FORMATION

The new buildings will be grouped around the present laboratory so as to form and "H," the present laboratory forming the bar of the "H." One building will be devoted to drafting rooms; the second, to classrooms, drafting room for advanced students and offices for instructors; the third unit will be used for shop and hydraulic laboratory purposes.

Miss Hsi Comes From Shanghai

Miss Feng Wan Hsi arrived in Honolulu on November 9, from Shanghai, China, and began her pre-medical course immediately, here in the University.

Miss Hsi is a former student of St. Mary's School in Shanghai, but comes directly from Shanghai College with advanced standing. At both schools however, all her work was conducted in the English language, enabling her to speak fluently now.

Pan-Pacific Union Meets

K. C. Leebrick Speaks; Gov. Farrington Presides

"The League of Nations" was the subject of several addresses given at the weekly luncheon of the Pan-Pacific-Union Clubs, held at the new Y. W. C. A. building, Monday noon. This gathering which was attended by many prominent people of the city and countries bordering the Pacific was presided over by Governor Wallace R. Farrington of the territory. Among those seated at the speakers' table were Dean A. R. Keller, acting president of the University, Dean A. L. Andrews head of the College of Arts and Science, Dr. K. C. Leebrick of the Department of Political Science, Dr. T. Harada and Joseph Gerdes representing the University of Hawaii Cosmopolitan Club.

LEEGBRICK SPEAKS

Dr. Leebrick in commenting upon the "Model League of Nations" held at Syracuse University last spring under the direction of Duncan Hall eminent Australian educator, declared that such a project was not only interesting but informing and instructive. In his opinion there can be no reason why a similar organization cannot be created in the Territory of Hawaii, which offers far better facilities for work of this nature in that almost all nationalities are present in the "Melting Pot" of the Pacific.

The Pan-Pacific Union, Dr. Leebrick believes, is always doing something worth while in the work of promoting friendly relations and understanding among nations, although it does not have the help of any financial foundation nor the advantage of an imposing structure.

HUBER TALKS ON LEAGUE

Judge S. C. Huber, prominent Honolulu attorney in his speech brought out the fact that the League of Nations is in reality a "three in one" organization because it has a three-fold purpose, to wit, the enforcement of the terms of the Peace Treaty, the promotion of international cooperation and the securing of perpetual peace. In his opinion, the third aim of the League is not so well known to the public in general.

A WORLD LABORATORY

That the League of Nations is a great world laboratory constantly seeking to discover the causes for international misunderstanding was impressed upon the minds of the audience by the speaker. "We are living in the age of the Leviathan and the Maelstrom" said Judge Huber in commenting upon the impracticability of an "isolation policy."

GERDES IS STUDENT SPEAKER

Joseph Gerdes representing the University of Hawaii Cosmopolitan Club gave a talk on "The Formation of a Pan-Pacific-Union League of Nations." He stressed the point that such a league in the event that it would be formed would work with the present world league rather than against it.

JAPANESE EDUCATOR PRESENT

Professor T. Murai head of the first school of foreign language in Tokyo, Japan, in his address declared that the purpose of his present tour around the world was to introduce the genius of the Japanese people to the western nations. He believed that both the Orient and the Occident have something to contribute to each other. "The students of Japan are keenly interested in the League of Nations" Professor Murai concluded.

Dean Keller of the University, the last speaker on the program said that he was loath to see Dr. Leebrick leave the local institution even for a few months.

"U" Students Enjoy Dance at Waipahu

Prisoners and Elizabethan damsels, Moro head hunters and colonial dames as well as many other characters represented the University at the dance given by the Waipahu Social Club last Saturday night at Waipahu Plantation.

The dance was held on a floor built over the tennis court outside of the club house. All the guests were asked to come in costume and many costumes used in plays which have been given at the University figured among those used.

There are several University students living at Waipahu and they took the opportunity to ask parties to enjoy the dance.

In Miss Eve Fleener's party there were Miss Grace Rourke, Miss Martha Wright, Miss Dorothy Waters, Miss Nada Stocks, Miss Peggy Harrison, Ralph Cloward, Jorgen Jansen, Charles Fleener, Jr., Bob Bowman, Pete Pringle, and W. P. Kelly. Vernon Wightman included in his party Miss Leontine Hart, Miss Lois Bates, Miss Florence Johnson, Miss Lanie Berg, Jorgen Jorgensen, Frank

Straub May Speak At the Meeting of Pre-Medical Club

Dr. George F. Straub, the head of The Clinic at Beretania and Miller Streets, may be obtained as the principal speaker of the December meeting of the Pre-Medical club to be held next Thursday at 7 p. m. at the Nuuanu Y. M. C. A. Dr. Straub has recently returned from a tour in Europe where he had studied the European method of medical appliances in connection with his work at The Clinic. He is the foremost authority in this line of medical treatment in Honolulu and it is hoped by the members of the club that his acquaintance may be of great value in their future studies.

LETTERS FROM OLD STUDENTS

The program of the meeting will be in charge of the social committee. In that meeting V. E. Rihoff, the president of the club will read several letters from the former students of the University who are now in the various medical schools in the mainland. These letters were primarily written for those students who are planning to go to the mainland medical schools, giving them the advice concerning the transportation, the living conditions, and several difficulties which the newcomers will meet.

CHOICE OF MEDICAL SCHOOLS

There are a large number of seniors and Juniors who are leaving next year, and they will discuss the question of selecting of schools and the means of reaching there. It is interesting to note that last year T. Betsui, S. Yamauchi, H. Tom, and a few others bought a car at Los Angeles and motored across the continent to their respective schools.

Notice

The Adelphi Club, under the direction of Dean Lewis will introduce a custom which is prevalent throughout the mainland college campuses, namely, the singing of carols during the Christmas season. It is planned to hold half hour meetings in Hawaii Hall on the afternoons of Dec. 15 and 16 from one to one-thirty o'clock.

Those in charge of the project urge all students to attend these sessions and help build up a worthy tradition on the campus. The club is considering the possibility of securing a Christmas tree for the occasion. Due to the lack of sufficient funds, it has not been definitely decided whether the tree can be obtained.

Mr. Lewis: "Do you like going to school, son?"

Dick: "Oh, yes, I like going well enough and I like coming back to. What I hate is staying cooped up between times."

French, Vincent Wightman, and Larry Thomas.

Harold Crawford had as his guests Miss Margaret Rouke, Miss Edith Hain, Miss Margaret Hain, Fred Stocks, Fred Jansen, Tad Fullaway, Sid Carlson, and Harold Shaw.

Those who accepted the hospitality of Orme Cheatham were Miss Dorothy Anderson, Miss Meta Jensen, and Hale Cheatham.

Miss Katherine MacFarlane, Miss Dorothy Waldron, Miss Ethel Widdifield, Lt. Donald Tredenick, and J. Stowell Wright were guests of Robert Thompson.

moon harp, a Chinese instrument. Miss Clara Young will do her share by singing a Chinese solo.

All University women students are asked to reserve Jan. 14 from 3 to 5 p. m. for this Adelphai party for they will receive a real "treat." There will be all sorts of Chinese delicacies such as liches, New Year cakes, and Chinese gelatin with preserved fruit.

Chinese games will be taught to those who are interested in learning them. It will be noted that the Chinese have sports and games that are quite different from ours but as interesting and amusing once they are known.

PLACE NOT DECIDED

The place of the party is not yet decided upon. It will probably be at the Academy of Arts garden where the Japanese students gave their tea recently or it may be at the spacious home of Miss Clara Chung on Beretania Street.

Mrs. Yates (in psychology): "Why did you put quotation marks at the first and last of this exam?"

Mr. S.: "I was quoting the woman in front of me."

Commercials Outplay Engineers; D. Dease Is Star

The Commerce team with Donald Dease and with ten other men completely outplayed and outgeneraled the Engineers last Friday winning by a score of 7-0. The score in no way indicates the relative strength of the two elevens. With Dease sweeping around the ends behind beautiful interference smashing off tackle, throwing passes all over the lot, and punting in rare form, the play centered mostly in Engineer territory.

The winner scored early in the game on a wide end run and were awarded the extra point on an off-side. Late in the game Jimmy Glover returned from a tea date in time to don his togs and attempted to pull his mates out of a bad hole but even with their big gun in the game the losers were powerless. Their one bid for a tally in the last quarter was a long pass to Jensen which was good for 55 yards but the Commerce line stiffened and after two more futile passes they took the ball on downs and Dease sent a long twisting spiral up the field ending their last threat.

Dease was the major star of the fray and those of lesser magnitude are far too numerous to mention. This game puts the Commercials and the Aggies at the top of the league in a deadlock with the former aggregation an overwhelming favorite to cop the title.

Miss Helen B. MacNeil, Registrar of the University of Hawaii, is now spending a two week vacation. She cannot leave here now, however, because she is taking a course in educational statistics, and has to attend her classes.

Deans Given Big Welcome

sided, Proc gathered together what was left of his squad and took them out to the street where they were piled into the ten shiny new Nash cars supplied by the Von-Hamm Young Company for the parade that was to follow.

ALOHA FROM GOVERNOR

Led by the University band and the R. O. T. C. battalion, the Deans wended their way through the crowded streets to the cheers of assembled Honolulu. Up Bishop street, to the left along Merchant to Fort, up Fort to Hotel, along Hotel to the Capitol grounds, through the Palace grounds to the front steps of the Capitol Building, where Honolulu's chief executive was waiting to hand out an official aloha to the Victorious Tiger Hunters.

The team left the cars and, headed by Coach Klum, marched up the steps and took their places in front of the Governor.

"I am proud to be here on this occasion to welcome back a victorious football team" said Farrington. "I feel that the team won, not only because they were fighting for their school, but because they were representing the Territory of Hawaii at the same time."

Klum then told the audience how glad he was to be back. "The boys played the best game in their lives when they beat Occidental," he said. "I never had cause to worry at any time during the play."

Dr. Dean, who was with the team in the capacity of mascot on the trip expressed his satisfaction with the team. "Klum is to be commended on his success with his team," he told the assembly. "The team won for three reasons—they were in better condition, they played better football, and they had a better coach."

The last speaker was bashful "Sonny" Kaeo, husky Varsity captain. He thanked everyone on behalf of the team for the wonderful reception tendered, and said that one of the reasons why the team won was that they knew the people of Honolulu were depending on them to do such. "I hope that you will all give us the same support in our next game as you have given us in the past," he concluded.

After the University band had played the Alma Mater, and the team had had their picture taken by "Al" Williams, Honolulu Advertiser photographer, the assembly broke up.

Will Hold Monthly R.O.T.C. Inspection

Tomorrow morning the third monthly inspection of the cadets of the University of Hawaii R.O.T.C. will be held to see what company comes out on top this time. The first inter-company competition was won by Co. I, and the second by Howitzer Company.

Colonel Adna G. Clarke and Captains Norman Nelson and Cecil J. Gridley are going to act as judges of the day. They will grade each company by the appearance of the individual cadets. Every cadet will be marked by the cleanliness of his overseas cap, his collar ornaments, necktie, shirt, belt, breeches, leggings, and shoes. Rifles will also be inspected and if they are found to be unsatisfactory by the judges the individual cadets will receive demerits.

Figures for the training examinations held last week have been compiled and the attendance records of each company have been also entered as part of the requirements toward winning this competition.

As soon as the complete figures can be obtained through inspection of the several companies, the winner will be decided by the judges.

Women To Be Members of Club

into membership. We earnestly feel that we can do something to further the activities of the club and can manage all social entertainments for any Student Pan-Pacific Club that may come here in the future."

Miss Nina Bowman and Miss Violet Ung also made speeches on why women students would like to join.

"The Cosmopolitan Club is a very important institution and we women students are interested in the kind of work that it is carrying on and that is why we wish to become members," declared Miss Bowman when asked for her opinion on the subject.

COMMITTEE CHOSEN

A committee consisting of Miss Matilda Sousa as chairman and Misses Nina Bowman, Moku Gittel, and Juliette Oliveira as assistants was appointed by the chair to decide on eligible candidates for the various officers and to ask these women students to join the auxiliary if they have not already done so. Election will be held at a future date.

FORD ADVISES

Mr. Ford assumed his role of adviser when he rose and made a very inspiring talk on the importance of the club and the necessity of having able office-holders.

"If you want to do any work at all, you must have a strong force of intelligent and earnest men who have the interest of the club at heart representing you," he said.

Due to the absence of President Percy E. Lydgate, the meeting was conducted by Mitsuyuki Kido, first vice-president. Joe Gerdes acted as secretary pro tempore.

COMMITTEE REPORTS

The committee working on the constitution reported that the document was almost completed. Particular attention was asked to be laid on the by-laws as they would furnish one of the most important parts of the constitution.

It was decided that an assistant secretary be elected to record the minutes of the meetings in the absence of the secretary so a committee made up of Quan Lun Ching, Joe Gerdes, and Walter Mihata was appointed to nominate an assistant secretary.

PICTURE TAKEN

Fall Directory Is Published

The directory of officers and students came out last week. The faculty list has been given out and contains information of the addresses of the faculty members, and the schools from which they graduated.

The names and courses of the students with the semester hours, grade points, courses and years are also out, with the exception of the freshmen. The directory also contains the names of those who were successful candidates for degrees at the University for the year 1927.

to a statement made by the cameraman.

Kurihara, Westgate, Dease, and Ashton were appointed to decide on the time and place of the next meeting for the men's organization.

Among the women students present included: Mrs. Dora M. Lewis, Misses: Moku Gittel, Ethel Franco, Nina Bowman, Violet Ung, Alice Ako, Beatrice Lee, Salome Lee, Margaret Lam, Matilda Sousa, Ruth Komura, Juliette Oliveira, and Mabel Wong.

Notice

The Governing Board of the University of Hawaii has voted that the two three hour period examination schedule per day be changed to a four two hour period schedule per day, the new arrangement to go into effect next year.

There will be so many new courses offered in the curriculum next year, that this change has been considered necessary.

Former "U" Men Now At Yale and Harvard

Ernest Sweet, Dwight Rugh, Cecil B. Tilton, and Edward S. Van Winkle, once connected with the University of Hawaii, are at present enrolled in graduate courses in the colleges of Connecticut.

Ernest Sweet, a graduate of the University in the 1927 class, is at the Harvard Business College taking up a course along the business line.

Dwight Rugh, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. of the University when he was here, is at Yale College also doing graduate work.

Cecil B. Tilton who secured his B. S. from the University of California in 1925 was an instructor in commerce for the past two years at the University of Hawaii. He is the author of a pamphlet called, "The History of Banking in Hawaii" which was published by the University of Hawaii press. This pamphlet reviews the banking system of Hawaii and the history of its development. Mr. Tilton's work was highly praised by Clarence Cooke, president of the Bank of Hawaii, and also by many other notable men of Honolulu. At present, he is enrolled at the Harvard Business School working for the degree of doctor of commercial science. He may probably come back to the University of Hawaii again after he has secured his mark.

Edward S. Van Winkle is also enrolled in the Harvard Business School. Mr. Van Winkle was assistant professor of commerce at the University of Hawaii for the past two years.

Bice Invents New Poultry Machine

funnel, in order to keep the air cool. The air then passes over the eggs, placed on twelve trays (six on each side) and it passes out of the machine through a ventilator at one of the lower corners.

As soon as the temperature of the machine becomes 59 degrees the thermostat, which is placed in the center of the machine, reacts and lights the two electric globes, one placed directly opposite the other on the middle of the sides of the machine. These globes are kept lighted until the temperature of the machine is raised to 61 degrees, then the lights go out automatically. The central controlling point of the machine is the thermostat.

GERMS IN EGGS KILLED
If the eggs are kept at the temperature of 60 degrees for a week or so before hatching, certain germs in the eggs will be killed thereby increasing the proportion of hatching.

The invention of this machine will not only save the University a large sum of money, but will be of great benefit to the poultry people of the territory.

Sophomores Show Interest in Debate

Ten Sophomores have already signed to compete Wednesday afternoon, December 14, for a place on the second-year team in the inter-class debate series sponsored by Hawaii Union. At this time, teams will also be picked to represent the Freshmen, Juniors, and the Seniors.

The time has been changed from 4 o'clock to 4:30 in order to permit students taking laboratory work to participate. The tryouts will be held in Hawaii Hall, room 108.

There is particular interest in the Sophomore team because the Sophomores won last year. Those who have signed up are, Thomas Kurihara, Kiyoto Tsubaki, Oliver Yanaga, Paul Osumi, Masao Aizawa, Lincoln Kanai, Edwin Funiyuki, Arthur Liu, Paul Chu, and W. V. Young.

Annual Report of Aggies Prepared

The tenth annual report of the agricultural department is being put through the press and will be ready for distribution by the first of January.

This report will include a summary of the work of the dairy, poultry, and experimental departments and the results of the egg laying contests, during the period between July 1, 1926 and June 30, 1927.

By FRED STOCKS

(An account of the Oxy game as Longfellow would have written it had he been there.)

From the town of Honolulu, on the good ship Calawall

Sailed the fighting, Rainbow Warriors, proud and haughty Roaring Rainbows

Sailed they on their annual conquest of the snarling Oxy Tiger Plowed they 'cross the broad Pacific to the shores of California.

Thence they wended onward, inland, to the home town of the Tiger, Made they ready for the battle, girded on their trusty weapons,

Listened then to Klum's Oration, heard his sobs, his sighs, his curses And, with sternest oaths, resolved they not to vacate California

Less a victory for Hawaii, less the skin of Oxy Tiger.

Trotted they, arrayed for battle out into the Coliseum

Up and down the field they ram-bled, making passes, doing punting

Getting ready for the battle, waiting for the Oxy Tiger.

Oxy was not long in coming, out upon the field he sauntered Watched disdainfully the antics of the powerful invaders.

Made he ready for the battle started in the game his scrub team Confident of easy victory, sure that he would beat Hawaii.

But his confidence was shattered when Hawaii started driving Making passes, line bucks, end runs, through the tackles, over center Down the field on steady motion, o'er the end line for touchdown. Exulting became uneasy, yanked his scrub team from the conflict, Sought to turn the tide of battle by replacing them with reg'lars

But the effort was unfruitful, nothing stopped the mighty rushes Of the Warriors of the Pacific, nothing held the noble "Rusty"

Lemmon Holt, the Greatest warrior, Willie Whittle, Billy Blaisdell, Walter Holt and all the linemen stiffened at the Tiger's onslaught Held them back like they were nothing, like they were little children

Thus they played for sixty minutes, thrilling the onlooking people Showing them the way Hawaii deals with those that she opposes Till the final gun woke echoes in Californian foothills

Telling that the game was over, that Hawaii was hailed the victor Twenty points to Oxy's goose egg.

In the falling shades of twilight, In the last red rays of sunshine, homeward jogged the Rainbow Warriors Bearing, on their lusty backs the striped skin of Oxy Tiger.

Thus the story is completed, thusly did Hawaii conquer.

Ambrose Wong Will Head Catholic Club

At the annual meeting of the Chinese Catholic Club at the Columbus Welfare Association hall last Sunday morning, Ambrose Wong, special University student, was elected president for the year 1928.

The Chinese Catholic Club is a very active organization among the younger set of Chinese in the Community. It has a membership of over 100 members. It holds monthly breakfasts and meetings. Several university students belong to the club, which has for its primary purpose the moral improvement of its members.

Baron Goto Returns For Graduate Work

Baron Yasuo Goto, who was very prominent while an undergraduate here from 1920 to 1924 and incidentally the second editor of Ka Leo of Hawaii, is back to school taking graduate work in soil formation. He sees a great opportunity for young men trained in scientific agriculture, and for that reason he has come back to do more investigation in that field.

Immediately after graduating with the class of 1924 he became the manager of the large Puako Ranch in Hawaii, which is raising cattle, hogs, chickens, and honey. Honey is the largest produce of the Ranch, being from 180,000 to 200,000 pounds annually, and is mostly exported to Germany, which pays the best price at present. Incidentally Germany buys three fourths of the total production of honey of the United States.

"Yes, the school has grown quite a bit since I left," he said, "But it is great to be back again. I see that the students are more business-like and they take things more seriously than during the days when I was at school." He said it was greatly due to the high scholastic standards set forth by Dr. Dean and President Crawford.

When inquired about his impression of the recent controversy of the editor of the Ka Leo he said, "I am strong for the pay system of the editor and the manager. And if the manager gets pay the editor most certainly should be paid, as it is not an easy matter to edit a school paper. If the editor is not paid I believe in giving the journalism class the full power in publishing the paper, without any restrictions from the student body."

To the Little Wooden Idol

Thoughts inspired while strolling through the Honolulu Academy of Arts:

I know it's very foolish
To worship wood and such
But if you'd only speak to me
You could say so very much.

Little Pagan Idol, speak!
Of the past, ancient days,
Of the Samurais and ladies
And their quaint, odd ways.

Antique Little God, speak!
Don't you hear me cry aloud?
Longing for your knowledge,
Come, tell not all this crowd.

Cursed little Mystic, speak!
I envy you your share
Of this life's immortality
And your lack of worldly care.

Stubborn, selfish, devil!
Well then revel in your lot.
Would that I were born as you.
Would I? No, I guess I'd rather not.
NINA O'DAY.

LATEST NASH CARS WELCOME RAINBOW WARRIORS

Smart, new Nash models were exhibited to the University of Hawaii student body in a very effective manner last week when ten Nash cars formed the Victory Parade which carried the Fighting Deans from the pier to the Palace grounds, where the team was officially welcomed by Governor Farington in the name of all Hawaii.

The cars were furnished and placed at the disposal of the University Parade Committee, composed of Lydgate, Gerdes, and Keyes, by the von Hamm-Young Co., Ltd., who are Nash dealers in the territory and who have always stood behind the A.S.U.H. when a circumstance of this kind has arisen.

Sport roadsters, of course, were the rage, and Castendyke, Jensen, etc., not only rode in one but also had their pictures taken while seated in the car. It must also be mentioned that by hook or by crook Ed Keyes drove one the entire length of the parade. Some have asked us, "Is that fair?"

Ernest Frazier, freshman in the College of Applied Science, is leaving the University to go to work.

Four Rules Given By Madam Dahl in Picking Clothes

Madam Dahl's box from France has arrived with material for flower making its contents, much to the disappointment of the present household art students. This new material has been promised to the millinery class of next year. Such questions as the following are samples of what the women students of the University wish to know, and are answered by Madam Dahl's appreciation class.

"Should I wear long or short hair?"
"What color rouge should I use?"
"Can I wear black?"

"What kind of neckline should people with long thin faces wear?"

"What material would be best for a wedding dress for a tall thin girl?"

Madam Dahl has given her students four general rules for selecting clothes. The deep brunette never indulges in a glossy fabric; it reflects to many high lights; she has high lights herself in hair, eyes, lips.

Choose whatever is most becoming to your beauty, tightly fitted garments or loose flowing ones.

Place the waistline where ever it is becoming to you.

One essential is jewelry; put it on if you look better; if not take it off; more things do not make anyone look handsome, less things generally do.

"The pretty maid may have a foot hold in her own generation but not in the next." (Vogue.)

Basketball

First call for varsity basketball practice has been sounded by Captain Kan Mun "Kan" Chin. Those aspiring to win berths on the University's team are asked to take note of the following dates which have been decided upon for practice periods.

Monday, Wednesday and Friday, from 4 to 5 p. m.

Tuesday and Thursday, from 7 to 9 p. m.

All practices will be held at the Palama Settlement Gymnasium.

Two Reach Finals in Scrub Tournament

The Scrub tennis tournament has finally reached its conclusion, the last match having been played yesterday between Moore and Mirikitani. Ka Leo goes to press before the outcome.

In the semi-finals Moore took the measure of Harano, 6-4, 6-2 while Mirikitani was forced to extend himself to down Inouye, 6-4, 2-6, 6-4. This latter match was a pretty one to watch, both men driving and volleying with apparent reckless abandon and neither tiring from the torrid pace.

SOCCER TEAM TO PLAY
The University Soccer team will play the All Schoolfield team Saturday, Dec. 10. The game will be played on the Engineers' field at 2:30 o'clock.

General Smith Praises R.O.T.C.

R.O.T.C., our future citizens' army, is a subject near to the heart of Major-General A. L. Smith, the commander of all the troops in the Hawaiian Department.

"Not only does this organization build up the modern boy physically, but it gives him a clear and understanding idea of obedience, fair-mindedness, and team play," the General said during a recent interview.

"Several years ago I spent one month in a military camp, drilling a troop of two thousand men. At the end of this month I learned that the sum total weight of my men was two tons more than their weight upon entering the camp at the beginning of the month." This goes to show the benefit derived from an organized and systematic method of exercise.

General Smith wishes to extend congratulations to each member of the U. of H. R. O. T. C. for the cooperation and enthusiasm shown in their work.
